Introduction

Why was working with influencers identified as a key component of the Start Strong initiative?
Why Are Influencers Important?

- Youth look to certain adults and their older peers for guidance.
- While in middle school, tweens are still accepting guidance from adults, while moving towards influences from their peers, popular culture, etc.
- Influencers serve as role models as younger teens establish their own behavior patterns and belief systems.
Who Are Essential Influencers for Middle School Youth?

- Parents
- Older teens
- Healthcare providers
- Others
  - School Personnel
  - College students
  - Community/Youth Organizations
  - Clergy

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS:
If you have a friend who is being abused,
listen to your friend without judging
Tell your friend to have a safety plan before leaving
Help your friend recognize that what's happening is not normal
Encourage your friend's strength and courage
Your friend is able to end the abusive relationship
Continue to be supportive of them even if they are alone

You have a friend who is abusive:
Help your friend recognize their behavior makes other people feel
The responsibility is on you to help your friend recognize their behavior makes other people feel

PREVENT VIOLENCE THROUGH PROTEST:
Voice your support for the movement to end violence in relationships
Participate in demonstrations and rallies
Sign petitions and support organizations working to end violence

Bella is graduating from high school and feels pressured to make a choice. Should your choices be defined by or limited to your relationships? One thing is certain. Every choice you make defines you. Own your choice. Define yourself. Imagine your future...
(Verse 1, It's not even her birthday!)
But I wanna wish the birthday girl a happy birthday!
Give it to her in the world's worst way,
Don't wait to blow out candles on.
I want that cake, cake, cake, cake.

Healthy Relationship Ingredients

| Fun/Enjoyable | Support | Respect | Equality | Trust | Total Healthy |

The song may portray: Drama: a belief that breaking up/yelling, bitter arguing, destroying property or a general sense that unhealthy conflict is part of a normal relationship. Possession/obsession: a belief that another person is an object to use for one's personal benefit. This could also include stalking, objectification, and controlling behavior. Disrespect: a belief that it is acceptable to disregard another person's feelings, ideas, opinions and wishes. This could include name callers, put downs, minimising language, and cheating. Relationship = sex: a belief that the main component or focus of the relationship is sex. Manipulation: a belief that it is acceptable to lie or use another person's emotions or vulnerabilities to get what is desired. This could include guilt trips, lying, and using alcohol to get sex. Fun/ Enjoyable: a belief that relationships are enjoyable and fun. Support: a belief that a relationship includes building up the other person's confidence and strengths. This could include encouraging another person to make healthy decisions for better themselves, even when the other person may not totally agree. Respect: a belief that another person has value and is appreciated and recognized for their ideas, thoughts, and decisions. This could include the use of positive or supportive words to describe the other person. Equality: a belief that both parties share in decision making and are free to choose what is right for them. One person does not have power over the other either in decision-making or sex. Trust: a belief that the other person in the relationship has your best interest at heart. This could include being faithful and honest.

Sound Relationships

Music, like food, can feed our brains and give us energy. But, it also can be filled with ingredients that can affect us negatively. Some music may even have an influence on our health and the health of our relationships. This instrument will help you evaluate the "nutritional" value of the music you might listen to. We want you to put on your headphones, turn up the volume and become a song lyrics nutritionist. Just follow these easy steps.

STEP ONE: Find a song
Select a song. Find the lyrics of the song either from the CD insert, or search for them online. Print out the lyrics, and read them to get a feel for the main themes in the song.

STEP TWO: Determine if the song has a relationship theme
Songs with a relationship theme describe an emotional or physical connection between two or more people and should support, celebrate or glorify the unhealthy or healthy characteristics of the relationship.

STEP THREE: Score the song lyrics
Carefully examine the song's title and all lyrics in the chorus and verses of the song. Now look at the Song Lyric Scoring Label to the left. Check the "PRESENT" box for each relationship ingredient that you find in the song. The definitions for each relationship ingredient are at the bottom of the label. Finally, for each ingredient that is present in the song, assign it a score from 1-10 in the "INTENSITY LEVEL" box based on how much of that relationship ingredient you feel is in the song. A score of 1 would indicate that there is a very low level of that relationship ingredient in the song while a score of 10 would indicate a very high level of that relationship ingredient. When assigning an intensity score, consider how those particular lyrics impact the overall message of the song.

STEP FOUR: Total your numbers
Add up the scores from the intensity column in both the unhealthy and healthy sections. These totals indicate the unhealthy and healthy relationship "nutritional" value of the song's lyrics.

STEP FIVE: Balance your "lyrical diet"
Use this tool whenever you want to find out the relationship ingredients of a song. Just like with the food we eat, it is important to have a balanced "song" diet that includes lots of healthy relationship ingredients. Knowing the ingredients will help you make an informed decision about which songs will promote good relationship health.

Using the Arts for Social Change

- “Arts-based educational messages about critical thinking and making healthy choices created by and delivered by peers have a significantly greater change of being heard and making an impact on young audiences.”

Brochure:
Expect Respect: Healthy Relationships

People involved in abusive relationships often believe this is the only kind of relationship available. This brochure emphasizes that it does not have to be that way and provides information about healthy dating relationships and how to recognize and prevent intimate partner violence. There is a checklist that helps teenagers assess their own relationships, and since it is written in gender-neutral terms, it underscores the fact that abusive and controlling behavior can occur in any kind of relationship and to anyone.

It is important to keep in mind that teenagers are still experimenting with intimate relationships. Therefore, they may be more amenable to change and improving the quality of their relationships than adults. This is why school-based programs designed to reduce dating violence appear to be somewhat effective.
Healthy Relationships

- Train nurses for screening, response and prevention
- Relationship fitness test - Are You Date-able?
- Collect local data-- Substance Use and Safety Survey
- Engage the SHAC--TX S.B. 736
- Update health curriculum

Create Sense of Ownership through Leadership Opportunities

- Teen Leaders
  - Build healthy and effective youth-adult partnerships (not youth “tokenism”)
  - Support youth voice
  - Use creative media and participants’ talents (e.g. theatre, video, poetry, spoken word, multimedia performances)
  - Make it personal
  - Think outside the box
  - Incentives?
    - The biggest incentive is when participants trust that their voice counts and that they have the opportunity to make a meaningful contribution to the community
Nurturing Youth Leaders

- Provide leadership training
- Start in elementary & middle school with projects that impact immediate community
- Build skills for public speaking, dealing with media, facilitation of talk-backs after events

Continuum of Leadership Opportunities

Youth as Policy Advocates
Lesson: Teens Told Us Why They Stayed

- Listen to Us
- Value what we say - Make Us the Experts
- Build trust
- Give us responsibility to teach younger peers
- Have great expectations that we can meet
- Be nurturing and firm in equal measure
- Celebrate our differences

The best time to prepare teens to develop healthy relationships is before dating begins

Parents/Caregivers

- Talk to your teens about their peer and dating relationships.
- Create space for an honest conversation. Listen.
- Stay involved in your teen’s life.
Training for Parent Support Specialists

- Provide the link to the community
- Are sensitive to cultural values about dating
- Empower parents
- Create space for conversation
- Reduce parents’ anxiety
Empowering Parents

Parent Advisors

- Help with understanding cultural values that influence how we talk about dating and relationships
- Increase buy-in, bring friends
- Transition to leadership roles co-facilitating workshops

Parents Over Violence

Peace Over Violence is excited to announce the formation of Parents Over Violence, a local grassroots advocacy and skill-building group for parents to engage and empower them in the movement to end sexual and relationship violence.

Starting with our local parent groups, Peace Over Violence will support parent advocacy and community building through meetings, trainings, and activities in the community and beyond. The group will also explore violence-free parenting and work together to develop guidelines and principles of violence-free parenting.
Community Capacity Building

- Build capacity within partner organizations and within our own organization
- Courageously explore our individual and collective strengths and challenges
- As we build capacity in our partners, we are also learning from their effective strategies
Learning from Our Partners

Spotlight on the Parent Transition Initiative

As we move into the new year, The Austin Project would like to take the opportunity to highlight the progression of one of our major initiatives: the Middle School Parent Transition Initiative. The Parent Transition Initiative (PTI) is designed to address parents’ concerns about the transition of their children to middle school.
Partnerships Build Capacity

“Personally this has been a great opportunity for me to increase my skill set in working with this specific age group on healthy relationships. I have been teaching the puberty classes for years, and love working with this age group and their parents. I think this material has enhanced our classes and added a new dimension instead of just “biology” aspects of puberty and early adolescence. I’ve had the opportunity to become a 4th R instructor and I love the curriculum - it is a great enhancement to our health classes.”
